

Summit Speaker Ellyse Boughey

Ellyse Boughey (she/her) is Montana Tobacco Use Prevention Program's Policy Specialist. During Ellyse's tenure with MTUPP, she has worked with local and Tribal partners throughout the state to advance strategies for tobacco-control policies, such as tobacco-free parks, tobacco-free worksites, and smokefree housing. She has her B.S. in Health Promotion from Texas A&M University-Commerce and currently is a graduate student at the University of Montana. In her free time, Ellyse enjoys recreating outdoors, reading, and exploring MT's small towns.

Summit Speaker Callie Morris

Callie Morris is Montana Tobacco Use Prevention Program's Tobacco Cessation Specialist. Her job involves working closely with National Jewish Health, Montana's quitline provider, to educate on and promote quitline services throughout Montana. Callie is a graduate from the University of Montana's Master in Public Health program with a Community Health and Prevention Sciences concentration and a certificate in epidemiology. In her free time, Callie enjoys playing with her cat and enjoying the outdoors

ReACT 2022 Summit

Host & Speaker Bios

Summit Host Aubree Bohrer

My name is Aubree Bohrer. I have been involved with reACT and prevention since I was 12. I am now a sophomore in college and though I have not chosen a career in prevention I am still passionate and involved.

Competition Co-Host Samantha Patrick

My name is Samantha Patrick, and I am the Tobacco Education Specialist for Silver Bow County. I am so fortunate to get to work with so many different people in our community and look forward to continuing the work to make lasting changes!

Competition Co-Host Taylor Dinsdale

My name is Taylor Dinsdale, I grew up in Townsend, MT, and I am the Tobacco Education Specialist in Lewis & Clark and Broadwater counties. I have two Frenchies and enjoy playing basketball, volleyball, and bowfishing in the summer.
